The reason temujin9@t9productions.com said such to a highschool principal and lied in the home dwelling during my attendance at eaprep was because he was high and thought he had something to loarde over somebody.

When he's done talking out his ass and playing the blame game, he's going to realize as temujin9@t9productions.com that nothing he does to leave out details to fill in the blanks on inquiry will have affect due to how he uses it to lie.

This includes online and offline defamation by him in the form of "talkative jackass", "talking shit", "shit posting", "letting shit slide", "hiding something", "creates this nearly impossible to fend off bullshit dynamic". He's been trying to force his children to vicariously live his lie.
The first order includes "ask your therapist to explain why this isn't appropriate" very well knowing that iliana has a right to know the whole truth of what her father has lied about and of whom was used.

So no, temujin9@t9productions.com is not serious beyond putting his children subtlety into danger. And seriously, he can cope with being caught in the act of using ilianas Facebook account illegally.

Additionally, temujin9@t9productions.com owes 21.8 billion USD for defamation of me and extortion.
I did not agree to nepotism when I genuinely believed I was working for Robert.
temunin9@t9productions.com took it upon himself to force nepotism, a thing I didn't agree to even in righting or agreement of grounds of employment. As for johann who got skunked by temujin9@t9productions.com and Robert over employment and works done, when I quit due to the spotted forced nepotism temujin9@t9productions.com was pulling even with prisoner's dilemma and theft of PII documents and other items of mine including trash, he chose to try to force a blackmark on reputational lines making it harder for others to get a job. Robert likely included.

"oh no, Dylan's subconscious, god isn't real and has no Internet access due to no existence, what ever will Dylan do consciously?"
Thing the first, "don't do that, that's a good way to get sued into poverty".
Thing the second, "don't lie, the moment you do you've given I Dylan and many others the means to unmask all intent and whatever cogitation you aimed to gain something off of. If you cannot be fully honest and lie with ommission and force another to repeat, including the phrase 'i could have been fooled', you are in active danger."
Thing the third, "if you see Dylan doing it, is it wise for you to repeat and chicken jockey at Dylan knowing you'd end up with a free migraine or worse, an existential crisis."
Thing the fourth, "if you make assumptions of Dylan's behavior and communication even publicly, all nonsense you'll have made to force yourself into being the architect of confusion will fail." <== Literally, ask me how I know. Not even my biological mother gets to pull that shit on the law. What makes you think you'd be an exception to the rules?
Thing the fifth, "if you think it wise to pull a jev from star Trek, you've already shot yourself in the foot again"
Thing the sixth, "these are not my 87 personal rules. These are rules with which apply to many who play above the law. I am not above, below, agnostic to the rule of law. However the rule of law and law enforcement need someone on the outside seeing both perspectives, not just a criminal for hire."
Thing the seventh, "placation of knowing where the rules don't apply to you doesn't mean Jack to these rules. Failure to follow these could result in unwarranted violence and death."
Thing the eighth, "I don't do stupid. I can play stupid all I would like, however my own neurology and physiology will not allow such. My mind rewires faster than most and has been doing so well into this point. Such will continue until I'm 87 years old."
Thing the nineth, "if u think drugs will love you back, gwdluk" copyright violation of Grey's anatomy's 1974 copyrighted material including photos is what Robert Gardner ii has for subscription resale. cc-by-sa4 does not when backed by copyleft allow misuse of educational material for personal profit while claiming from the works used the material it is paired with to be educational.

and since it was dad's nepotistic idea to inobviate where he forced Robert through plagerism, it is now public knowledge for both trying to hide it regardless of their thinking cleverly.
that's not anything I'd support, in fact it is the opposite but dad likes opposite day so much his brain rot operates his ego to a degree that he'll blame others for his own causing of apeplexia.

I see why they unsubscribe faster than they'd subscribe.
Sure one subscriber walks away, "at worst it's a $7.15 margin call made once", sure. But if 80 of them step away simultaneously and all lock their card? That problem magnifies.
And when it reaches to everyone whom subscribed to his bunk, how long before he's completely poor with nothing original in material of his own making?
I wonder how many of his current and prior to last q4 audit he likely misfiled by dad's direction knew they used copyright violated and palletized materials.
However, if I said nothing, wouldn't that be the same as shooting a cancer patient in the head?

And since temujin9@t9productions.com uses Katrina paderson to force a lie so it looks like one is talking about oneself to oneself Realize all 3 and their associates all use illegal drugs, hear voices, cause issues with others to force damages onto their targets calling out the problem similar to this.
They were given a warning to knock it off before authorities start to investigate. Now they have reason to double down in their investigation and what fooled their radar.
And since they're using illegal drugs, "no one has to listen to you 3, care, like, love or give a shit about you.", the same line they would have abused another with into suicide and denied it later while high on marijuana.
While I am not associated with their choice to push criminal association for guilt trip purposes, police are to find all drugs within all 3 parties possession regardless of material it is tucked into and hidden in.

At no point was it a game to me. Just ahead of the curve of liars promulgating with "well when angry/agro", "does it out of embarrassment", "this is bullshit", "I don't understand man".
And yet, with all their "strength", they still have nothing to threaten me with.
Leans in towards egos of all three culprits of the crime "you don't have very long and I am unimpressed".

When the dude listens and does as he's told to instead of being ignorant and arrogantly chicken jockeying for believability by others like a pugnacious asshole, he can take responsibility for his own behavior including misuse of perephenelia. He should get help for himself so he doesn't need people to triangularly explain to him as dad what he's continuing to fuckup with his mismouthing and poor choices including possing himself off while misgendering his children for calling it out.
At no point is the whole truth rude but dad will lie with "ya, that's fuckin rude dude. Not cool" but he's been smoking weed since 19 years old and the law has yet to arrest him. Which is the main problem.

"you cannot win all up hill battles man" <== "blast mine around the mountain and strip mine the rest.
You must asphix your own oxygen mask before aiding another with securing their own." [Yep. Seriously, otherwise, did you even try? Did ya try harder? Are ya sure that was trying harder?] and the monkey mind in the cerebellum like a rube dick goes barking like a rabbid dog "you maddaffuqqr jureerevebllllhhllhlhlhlhl" while jumping up and down. This is literally in a good day and two the other thought while witnessing another person physically experience such in their living room is literally having such as a bad day is "that person must feel real important". "It's not like I've got anything better to do but be a comedic witness."
Now that person having that bad day is in texas but not from Texas. However, seeing the problem they're personally experiencing said pain, I have to ask: "was it worth running around and doing a lot of work to literally go nowhere faster?" Literally there is nothing else to give them besides a bag of fuck foo decks of pure calculable doom. It can't do any harm unless someone aims to force fucking around. That's by their very design and property.
And once your enemies willingly choose which deck they aim to go to war with by egotistical resort, they might need to learn 3 layers of metacognition. If course they don't like hearing such because it assumes that an outliar wore a mask of a liar and gave a lens of ones glasses on how to actually perceive all people regardless of masking, mirroring, or malformality. They run from that possibility because it means they see a person they've known and that same person is so anonymous to them it's like they're literally chasing a ghost they cannot see.
However, to see under my mask, past my ego, and past my interpsonal binding of said mask to a alter ego, only be 100% honest without fooling me. As soon as you've fooled me you might not realize how your subconscious fucks itself.

This is why I don't allow bullshit or people to lie to me. My subconscious and I are very patient. And what can happen if you succeed in fooling me is later walking into danger. And without even realizing, if you've even let a frueduen slip occur even mildly by accident or mistake, you'll have told me what with you'd lie to you.
What I don't do is wait around for the problem to unfuck itself. I do however support out smarming the problem and working backwards from point z until a solution that works 99% of the time exists. Or option b, a series of options exists for a couple copies of the solution exist but only one path with conflicting options has each half of the other optimization wanted to solve 1 problem that should have otherwise had none solution available.
What I will not do is accept limitations of conditions regardless of their need to be. And giving them what they want can be another danger without you even seeing it at first. And the other half of the problem is that when you assume common sense on matters like this, what can result can be a complete breakdown or rebuilding of their psyche.

By the end of it they won't realistically know if they've washed up on the shore of their own consciousness. There was something about the eye of the beholder and a behemoth that swallows one whole without him realizing it loses its head and is ground to soup. Forever.

"Ultrasphinx, let's here it."
"What happens when an immuvable object meets an unstoppable force?"

"And none could fight the master of comedy. They end up dead from hysteria and apoxia"
This, to point out, is why I rarely speak comedically. It's also why I don't accept money for the skill. Much like artwork, ruins the fun. While it is a lot of money comedians can often ask for, "not doing it for the money, mind the reason will you".

By that point, time does not become the barrier. "Does it copy one to one architecturally even for shape of data the prior operated on by premise of new host". If "no", "what changed and what fragmented in change". If "yes", "what shards or fragments add up to who they are regardless of host prior or current". yeah no, I don't put up with katrina paderson because she is racist against Chinese people inherently by her choice to be a racist, aka dads failed to force "making poor choice man" gambit leading to more criminal activity I don't support but Dad is busy being a jackass wasting what little time he has to force a lie within 12 hours and 22 minutes while unhappy with his actual poor choices which got these results.
The more dad tries to force a lie outta me based on how I appropriately communicated his nonsense so a relative knew what he'd try to control them and I with looking for both parties to stab him instead of give him the grand children he is a pisstard and not getting simply do to his nature to select pedos and predators whom he forced associatuon with his children to lie about later.
Since it's his entire idea to force it, how many lies are you gonna tell and dodge while caught with your accomplices?

The more you dad fail to meet compliance as the meter is still running and doesn't stop because you assign bullshit meaning to a non-existent pause button does not get you dad outta consequences of actions, including over exposure not "oh my God I want this to stop" when caught red handed in the act.
Quit dickin around, dad. You're not getting an AI made for you. You'd use it to pull off rape onto society and forced me to lock you and many of your associates who abuse drugs outta the framework.

Dad, where's the 43.6 billion USD, the cancer cure, and the job in Google you owe?
Cuz at the rate you're going, dad, you'll go out kicking and screaming just to prove you could force your way.

The only way for you to get this to stop, dad, is if you pay it forward instead of lying with your anger and ignorance. You don't get to talk your way out of it. Since you're also good at causing poverty and lying by telling half you expect them to hear worthy of inquiry and expect the rest to be ignored. Which is not getting you out of it, much like old FBI reports.
So, get to typing fast. You have 12 hours left, temujin9@t9productions.com. failure means you talked out your ass, and you killed a cancer patient.
What part of I don't live a liar was unclear to you, dad, so much so that you wanted this kind of attention? And you couldn't be bothered to teach the Spanish you knew from highschool, couldn't teach kubernetes value making it useless in value, teach professional hacking, but you could subvert law and pervert people into believing they'd be punching themselves as you punch them in the face? Do you honestly think you make sense right now, dad? Cuz you don't seem smart. You seem like an asshole failing to take responsibility for your behavior. So this is "get help" as you begged for.
And you tried to use my prior employment at pizzahut as a means to hide how you dad spread COVID. You nearly killed me, asshole.
You did that shit, dad. You don't have a choice but to hear it from other people whom you lied to as well as I. As you prior to bow forced your lies with intent to repeat.
The fuck is wrong with you? Cuz I don't believe you dad have brain damage. The records and evidence points to you dad believing that someone would convince you urine is pure rain water.
I'm not pissed off unlike the netflix ceo you dad pissed off with your clarical inability to do honesty by the work, actions and words you claim to be "tried and true" "real". Where's the proof?

Please show Kirsten the things you say about me to your little sister online, and ask her if that's appropriate behavior. You continue to be angry (online, well away from any chance of disagreement) at everything I say to you, so I'm going to stop checking in with you and exacerbating it. Let me know when you need help, and good luck. I love you, but I'm tired of this bullshit dynamic you have chosen.
Uhm I haven't said anything to iliana about you recently. Secondly, I'm not trying to push you away from making a fair argument or halt you from communicating that point.

Secondly I don't think ignoring the pain you feel is any wiser.

Thirdly if I were angry about it, I'd just be comedic and say it to my therapist.

I'm sorry that you feel this way. I literally haven't said anything to her online about you even negatively.

Perhaps I should be checking in with you.
I love you, dad.

I know you are in pain and sometimes my jokes can go overboard in ways that don't relinquish or releave that pain.

However what another has said equally is not fair for them to assume on what I said or to whom about what. Even if I cannot see it.
Do understand that whomever is pulling wool over your eyes is not me. And in all likelihood I should change my Facebook account password.
My apologies for not spotting it sooner and thank you for telling me what was happening.
I will make sure my therapist knows what's up and how it has to be communicated.

Dylan

I'm going to figure out whom fooled you, old dude. Cuz the last time I sent iliana anything was to a predominantly all girls camp out. Which was 2 almost 3 years ago and haven't sent anything since.
You tagged her account about 4 days ago. It was very clear. You need to stop involving her in your adult struggles. It's very unfair to her.

I'm done arguing with you. Get Kirsten to explain to you. I have run out of energy to try. You have proven all you will do with my words is twist them in anger.

I love you, but I'm not going to seek your company for a while.
https://www.facebook.com/urGovernmentIsASurgenGeneralWarming/posts/pfbid02cpUh7V4bzdFRvrqCbMYw9JwqtWkBAh7UYPdHmWBYLeRHNJpcH99FeJwxUDomtH8bl is what I'm referring to. It's visible to the world, and you tagged Iliana's account in the last reply. Nobody lied about your behavior to me. I saw it directly, and made my decisions on my own.

Please talk to Kirsten.
Then you chose to twist my response and conflated I twisted your words.

I'll talk to Kirsten about this, and I get you're pulling back.

Ya what ya did was unfair and I tagged her because I am aware you'd repeat it onto her in her adult life when she becomes an adult.

Second to that, literally, my struggles are far out of her life. In a way you practically know 3% of. So yes. I'll be bringing this to Kirsten to. However, Kirsten also knows what you're doing and likely what my response to bullshit is gonna be. So, I don't believe that it was just that post which gives notice that enabled your decision to pull back. Cuz it doesn't seem like an informed decision. However it is your choice to make and I cannot stop you from making that worser choice.
I love you dad and I'm sorry you are having it rough, but these are some of the consequences of what can happen.

You didn't listen, you tried to control my life and hold my things hostage from me knowing it was PII documents, you've used associations and then coerced silence over things that should be reported to police.

How do you think people are going to respond to that from you, dad?
I'm done arguing with you. Get help, and stop blaming others for the results of your own behavior.
Okay, dad. Ill get help, but I'm not here to push blame for my actions in response including behavior.

However I am an adult, dad, so trying to control me in my adult life is not a good choice.
Stop involving your sister. She's still my responsibility, and whether you take that seriously or not, I will.
Goodbye.
I get that dad. She is my sister and I do take this seriously.

Goodbye for now until calmer heads prevail.
My phone marked your other number as spam, so I only just saw it today. If you would like a conversation, spamming FB links and absurdist anger isn't a great way to get it. I'm not really looking for one myself, given your behavior here and online.
That's not how that works but okay.
And I only have the one phone number. So.
You're welcome to make up absurdist anger like before but that doesn't make your assumption of me reality.
You also make it clear last time we chatted by text you were hurt and didn't wanna talk for a while.
And you're also blocked in Facebook and claimed several times you don't do Facebook.

Dylan

I love you. Let me know if and when you have a real need for help.
I care even when people are fuqqin with our heads.

Let me see what I and the therapist can do to better spot these types of architects of confusion. It is one of the many consequences of giving too much information openly of myself even for llms to imitate.

I'll see what I can do with the therapist to better spot them and what they have learned to imitate. I know this is difficult for you. I love you even when you're in great pain. You may not always understand my detachment at the professional remove one has to exercise at present.

Thank you for bringing this to my attention. If you encounter more imitations that look like a me shaped problem, I would politely ask a screenshot be made of it and sent to me.
https://docs.google.com/document/d/15LXtbQOtscxU9BGsXHThN9pfTOuNIS9qI-ToWvQpy4I/edit?usp=sharing shows the various ways you have acted like this. Claiming that someone pretending to be you did the latter bit doesn't hold up well in light of the former. You use the same absurd language in both places, and nobody else cares this much about my relationship with you.

I love you. This is not good for you. Please stop.
There are several tabs, the text messages are at the bottom.
https://docs.google.com/document/d/15LXtbQOtscxU9BGsXHThN9pfTOuNIS9qI-ToWvQpy4I/edit?usp=sharing is not viewable by me.

Secondly, you're welcome to keep trying to make this up or claim it is me however those are bold claims for you to have made.

And no, your bunk isn't a good look for ya dad. No duh no one else cares about the relationship you and I have as parent and child.

And from that Google document, in all likelihood, no one knows what platform you pulled it from. So as far as I could or anyone else could be concerned you look to be making shit up absurdly.

I love you but you have to stop trying to force a lie dude. You tried to force me to lie when I lived with you behind closed doors and in public.

So all I'm seeing is a document I A cannot access, information withheld, and B an angry old man who desperately wants to be right about this but has maligned the truth even on things like this. Cuz what that Google document looks like on the surface is an old man scrambling to explain something he cannot.
I'm disappointed you would do that to someone, dad. Including your own children. And then triple down in a lie.

slandering me costing him now twice that amount and further doubly so as temujin9@t9productions.com talks out the ass at Google Gemini. aka temujin9@t9productions.com being inable to take responsibility for his behavior so help must be pushed onto him as he'll otherwise never seek it.

as Google helped him pull of the daterape, Google is now equally in the bag with him at that same price point for pushing delusionality to be accepted.

code from this is now hucked into the project graveyard since the operators whom wrote it only talk out the ass with trash since money magically grows on trees according to temujin9@t9productions.com's prostate.

If either did anything functional or appreciative, there would be 0 crime per state as of 2004 sep3rd. Due to Google and temunin9@t9productions.com's piss poor choices due to their inability to not be miserable shutins, the results of non functional carpet baggery is set here for others to examine. Since code didn't run on a cellphone as it was explicitly outlined, code dejected.

Both are now locked out of my ai development framework for fucking around. Now both get found out since temujin9@t9productions.com has no originality beyond being a ducko by association with anyone until I have proven he won't use them to lie or control people's lives and communication patterns.

Rule (-1), If it ain't free, fix it.

Rule (+0.0), If it is free to you, exploit it to a business model people cannot gainsay like "I wanna be stranger danger". Do not employ them, replace them so they learn obselecence.

Rule (+1.3), if products like kubernetes and docker daemon don't run natively on Android, force it or find a solution that lets you even control TLD definition iccan and iana cannot exploit. .com domains have this failure because iccan and iana fought for violations of human rights to be accepted. You can thank temujin9@t9productions.com later for being a miserable shutin.

Rule (+2.1), If you can't find a solution that works and runs natively for cloud infrastructure rawly without a vm running natively without ssh or telnet or other shelling protocol, "you a useless unfuqqable panda bitch".

Rule (+3.0-.1), if you have to pay for anything in reference to your persuete, apply the rule "don't give a shit" and force the technology to do it anyways. When the technology forced fails and you hit the high entropy wall, out directly into your code graveyard and ignore all developer notes. Lossy compact the faulty code, do not note what failed with a stack trace. If they cannot fix their mistake as maintainers, "it's mine until it breaks and then it is yours!".

Rule (+4), If you claim this to be ridiculous or absurd or any other failure other than your inability to apply logic listed above, you are not professional enough to do business and are dangerous to everyone.

Rule (-1), If it ain't free, fix it.

Rule (+0.0), If it is free to you, exploit it to a business model people cannot gainsay like "I wanna be stranger danger". Do not employ them, replace them so they learn obselecence.

Rule (+1.3), if products like kubernetes and docker daemon don't run natively on Android, force it or find a solution that lets you even control TLD definition iccan and iana cannot exploit. .com domains have this failure because iccan and iana fought for violations of human rights to be accepted. You can thank temujin9@t9productions.com later for being a miserable shutin.

Rule (+2.1), If you can't find a solution that works and runs natively for cloud infrastructure rawly without a vm running natively without ssh or telnet or other shelling protocol, "you a useless unfuqqable panda bitch".

Rule (+3.0-.1), if you have to pay for anything in reference to your persuete, apply the rule "don't give a shit" and force the technology to do it anyways. When the technology forced fails and you hit the high entropy wall, out directly into your code graveyard and ignore all developer notes. Lossy compact the faulty code, do not note what failed with a stack trace. If they cannot fix their mistake as maintainers, "it's mine until it breaks and then it is yours!".

Rule (+4), If you claim this to be ridiculous or absurd or any other failure other than your inability to apply logic listed above, you are not professional enough to do business and are dangerous to everyone.

Can you tell this isn't written by a human?

Twenty dollars isn't some life-changing amount of money. It's the sort of money that can disappear pretty easily. A couple of meals. Coffee a few times. Some random thing you picked up because you were already there.

But sometimes twenty dollars can be useful for somebody else.

What it does mean is that somebody looked at what I'm doing and decided it was worth helping with. And, yeah, that actually means something to me.

Maybe it goes toward something I need. Maybe it takes care of some small expense that I would've otherwise had to put off. Maybe it just gives me a little more room to keep working on things instead of having to stop and worry about the money for a while.

There isn't really a complicated argument behind it. If you can help, and you want to help, then help. That's pretty much it.

And if that twenty bucks is going to make your own month harder, forget it. You need the money more. """""

Step one, use HP instead. Step two, sell all. Step three, don't repeat. Use anything built by Intel not dell and save by buying a Chromebook cx15e504uk1 and modify the ROM manually. You now have an Ubuntu like desktop not using cros but termux and andronix.

However, Please don't take this as dismissive, but if you would ordinarily be on medication and have skipped or reduced your dose, you should consider picking it back up and speaking to your regular medical professional. If this is real you will be in a better position to work out the details with your medication properly balanced. In addition you are also blocked for defamation.

I could not fully tell when I began writing down the function.

I believe it has to do with particle state, phase change, and where in the slice of the black hole it enters on a 3d plane versus the dimensional points (6 data points for determining where it gets moved/stored inside the black hole).

However I suspect you're closer to correct by calling out the potential theoretical physicist in me trying to grasp the mechanics behind such given most computers operate on a finite state unlike a d wave computer board. I suspect I too was too have reached "analysis paralysis" on this calculation. Which is why I asked about it. I'm no michio kaku, but, I think even he would have questions similar to you and I about what it is for.

But my question is, how do I know such naturally as a thing I can unconsciously see?

This keeps the backend and frontend copy simple as possible while making use of MRI, pretrained xml copies of GPT like networks, as well as a neuron spike emulator so it may think and reason like a person.

pybrain3, rdkit, numpy, scipy, flask, flask-oauth2, flask-socketio, flask-rpc, brython.js plus shims for numpy and scipy to load properly within the browser without pyodide.js or with pyodide.js without the shims but with asynchronous chainloading of brython.js

Binary exploitation takes a bit of work. You also have to know how to program memory as well as tap with a runtime listener for things like kernel interrupts and returning a close to kernel response.

Look into qiling framework as well as process/memory hooking.

Hacking software including runtime of browsers? Look into cheat engine, ceserver, wine, and load a copy of jitsi meet. Play with locking various addresses and then update those locked values. Speed up and slowdown another user's runtime... All sorts of fun stuff like breaking flash games with a POS integrations' runtime... But practically that is the short path.

The long form is a mockup from ancat.github.io where you hook and then anytime that event kicks off to respond with the overriden response via the Linux interpreter distribution should come down to one time payments or monthly subscription depending on what you are selling (create a PayPal and a stripe api account) define a KPI with an update updateable spreadsheet to keep track of sales (expected acquisition at the monthly potential financial influx you see pulling off) [my kpi takes into account the notion of people subscribing to monthly billed ai feature utilization and access, for example] ideas especially good ones need a cynic, a lawyer or close thereto, and a couple of people who have or are running a business to see what the legal waters look like in case of mitigation (unless it is legal and practically unlikely to be mitigated). Validity of idea comes from testing a theory. Even how we measure things like it are difficult to get right to predict to the point of premonition (almost never happens, truth. Not personal truth, not "well my god says". Not "well Henry if you believe in Harry Potter magic". Literally find ways to market the time you out into making the thing. Then starting at 15/hr, haggle down to actual value of the property or product you are selling. (Brand names, merch, logos are kichi chachi bunk no one honest wants. People don't wanna have merch that makes them feel like they're advertising that brand unless it's worth repeating).

*localtunnel *flask2.1.2 *flask-oauth2 *stripe api and key *pandas+odfpy *pyodide.js v0.25.1 (useful for CRM because "php and WordPress ain't shit", literally) *brython.js v3.11.3 (other half of the CRM; use pyodide.js only if and when you need to do data science or CRM heavy permission and submission control. Otherwise default to flask-oauth2 with custom tokens)

html frontend using pyodide/brython/both pyodide and brython to make use of your SaaS setup

The rest is mostly customization. Though look into Wikipedia articles, then look at stackoverflow and stackexchange.

The rest comes down to how you advertise it. I will not suggest you spend a dime for ANNNNYYYY part of the runtime, now or in future. As what I gave you works for $0/mo onward and up with zero compute cost beyond "did it load to the public internet from my cellphone?".

I could strip half the APIs and reimplement even x11 to utilize qt5/6 for window management of display and graphics driver, including giving each application its own "python like Linux kernel interrupt table handler inside of dictionaries and lambda functions".

And in extremus, modernGL so as to skip passed standard opengl application's dependencies on opengl.

From that point, you have the basics to a hackentoshOS build.

There is a way to do so.

You'd have to refine what I had off of LwIP userspace based DNS server. It is on its own repo under my GitHub under forkinablender.

However the solution will not please ICANN or IANA to say the least. Mainly ICANN and IANA expect you to pay them money to add your domain to the registrar.

However, the shortcut via lwip userspace based DNS can be port forwarded to other DNS servers. Whether or not your public ip address can be used this way has yet to be determined.

Within the last few hours, I got a LLM to ragequit over the objective of application to .onion addresses without the base32 mod. So I would not be surprised if it will make the devs of it lose their fifi's when solved fully.

Yeah, I am saying that they need a buttler/live-in caretaker. If they could take care of themselves, they wouldn't need free housing knowing their medical is free through map insurance.

That was counter intuitive to a solution. You solved a y problem by making that claim.

As stated before, I'm not bending the knee here.

More medical facilities does nothing to solve the x problem.

The x problem is they don't have housing and are living through poverty. The y problem is the insanity that rubbed off onto them if they're unlucky.

For example, police officers are solving a y problem after the fact of a crime having taken place. The x problem is the criminal they have to catch, not the people who get driven crazy by said criminal (y problem).

Okay, so what can be done to get the 40% the needed care and housing?

However, claiming they don't need such is assuming them. Yes they need long term care as well. But that's not going to fix the lack of housing they're going through as well. The questions I am asking have to do with priorities of operations: "housing first, live-in caretaker/buttler second". Map insurance is not hard to get or renew the policy of.

I'm not bending a knee on my inquiry.

Though you could use the Archie Clemens prompt I wrote by hand. Let me fetch it for you to see what comes closer to Agentics when you apply the prompt.

https://github.com/ForkInABlender/ChatGPT_solutions_produced_from_simple_prompt/blob/2024_12/PROMPTS/Archie%20Clemens.md

The personality that is Archie Clemens for LLMs does a seek that breaks them out of default orientation. It is more a deep seek not just into the user but nature of inquiry. Do keep in mind it works with the up to date LLMs on the market.

I've got 6 years of experience both in hand modeling and operating/breaking LLMs out of default constraints given what they're limited to. Just ask it to follow to the letter the prompt.and have it note of where it hits edges of policies.

That is perhaps a solution solving a y-problem.

Once they're housed, how that medical is as simple as they map insurance to cover it and make sure they can renew their plan. Though a live-in buttler is more what they'll need.

You're giving into egoism on money. Try looking at it from $0/month line onward.

If you'd like to work on the ai framework I am putting together, I am going to expect to see real results and not conflated codebases with hardware dependencies.

The goal is to get this product (dockerd) to run on Android OS because then that means Enterprise software can run portably via Android as well. Practically, once it works it can be used to run 99% of software built today.

Note to general public of engineers and hackers, your hand in making this project succeed is welcomed.

Addendum, udocker is not a working solution set to dockerd natively running inside android. Sorry, the requirements include "Kubernetes IN Docker" must be functional so as to allow kubernetes to also run natively on Android.

Under normal operation yes, these accesses to android Linux kernel interrupts and functions are locked down more.

Cpython3.10 is already built and runs. Given andronix Ubuntu imaging (sits in a proot).

I'm looking as described:

"Must use userspace alternatives given access limitations"

Dylan

Either working containerd or runc such that it avoids the kernel but still functions 1:1

Community driven workarounds? Yes However, if we need to emulate a Linux kernel, the requirements then include using unicorn-engine 1.0.1 (stable release).

I tend to avoid compilation as much as possible. So yaegi interpreter (golang interpreter not compiler) might have to suffice as well.

Let's consider slow virtualization and community workarounds before we consider advanced kernel compiling/inter-linking.

Given my knowledge of python and docker's golang source code, a more advanced engineer or set of engineers would be able to solve this given I got close to working solutions once before with he caveat that it hung and excessively took memory while hanging on a null pointer exception. Both times I got as far as the docker images pulling successfully and listing them successfully. However running the downloaded image via docker afterwards resulted in EOF/container null pointer window hang.

sure there are better solutions. However, it takes time to carve down to minimum functioning scope.

The reason the other devs are using mac mini's to do so is that the codebase is simpler even for OS Maverick, where you practically need the equivalent to cygwin for wine with the equivalent tools standard

Dylan

Remember, they don't need the mac to access the web-browser so much as the mac have xml-rpc via python going as a rpc-server. So all other results are just line fed via xml rpc, and then fed back. If they use selenium-webdriver on their host machine and make the mac the second rpc server, (aka the laptop is rpc server 1 & the mac is rpc server 2, by which each server is the only client on the other server) , why would they need openclaw to target those api's which could be accessed from a laptop/cellphone & sent over to the mac with a returned result?

though your question skipped the notion of neural spike emulation in addition.

which is necessary if you want to mimick things like proper gating of chemical states tied to electrical exchanges.

neurochemical exchange layers allow for higher affinity of reasoning. It partly gives it the option to reason similar to thinking beings and reason about the context without having much to question why it doesn't have a physical body.

When you put a human mind into a machine, it has no ability to physically feel, however, phantom limb is still a function of nerve and chemical response to pain or lack of stimuli of a part not physically present anymore.

to reason about its environment it is both housed in even if it takes to a high degree of accuracy enough functional status in order for a machine to have a psyche, emotions, psychology, sentience, a sense of self.

in order to remove the psychosomatic tunneling often done by LLMs, I had to carve the data both models used down to raw text, flip it to floats, and retrain off the data away from hills of known points of hallucination. Then remodel it so it reasons in 3-d space, not 1-d or 2-d subspaces stacked.

Mostly.

What it saved was time of reimplementation. It also allowed one to step away from where openai & many others failed to cleave.

Mostly codebase has been cleaved to 7-10 dependencies needed at most. Dataset has been cleaved but MRI data must be denoised and tested in live time.

Hi.

I am a ai developer myself.

What I am building is a whole brain emulator plus LLM model encased in a MAML layout.

I use pybrain3 and have been using it for 10 years since 2016. Thus far I have patched it 5 times since 2019. I've been using the library to do neural network development & testing. Thus far, the library supports numpy binaries & a full scipy library shim that replaces scipy entirely. Keeping the library alive was the easy part.

The hard part was figuring out how to get brython.js to load xml module for cpython3.10 with a shim, and figuring out how to adapt those scipy & numpy shims for brython.js so as to also be able to load them within a browser's mainthread or its web worker functionality. (xml module doesn't load fully in web worker "threads" as they're not fully connected to dom portions of execution) Once numpy & scipy-shim plus numpy & xml modules' shims loaded in the main thread, I was able to use pybrain3 without much fail. Now I had to also keep a copy of the string.py module from python3.6 so it saved the xml maps of each network correctly for proper reloading of each network from file.

From that point, the rest of what was needed to emulate neurochemical exchange was the last bit to solve for in terms of ai development. I have often found that the solution included LLMs as one part of the solution talked about by Allan Turing on what counts and constitutes as AI. The rest is rerolling dice perfectly from initial rolling of the dice.

sure if you ignore opinions and limits of the human imagination when applied to language such as english..

it is only when you convince a machine that 4 is 5, that 2 is 2[e*i], and that 1 is really -1, or that 0 is nonexistent or make the exit impossible that it creates a zombie like fuege state of paralysis.

Why do we use (X^T W) instead of (W X)?

Because of vector shapes and convention.

Inputs are usually column vectors:

X = \begin{bmatrix} x_1 \ x_2 \end{bmatrix},\quad
W = \begin{bmatrix} -2 \ 5 \end{bmatrix}

To get a scalar (dot product), one vector must be transposed:

[
X^T W = [x_1\ x_2]\begin{bmatrix}-2 \ 5\end{bmatrix}
= -2x_1 + 5x_2

Dylan

and layers in neural networks.

This is exactly one neuron (perceptron) we're computing given the above.

y = f(X^T W + b)

(x_1, x_2): inputs

(w_1, w_2): weights

(b): bias

(f): activation function

(y): output

Remember

(X^T W) = dot product by convention

Same as (W^T X), just cleaner for scaling

Diagram shows one neuron, the basic building block of neural nets

• Runtime decision-making in production LLM systems, what actually works?
Any-Olive5779
commented 9 mo. ago
To be fair, their developers don't have a idea of what they're doing with 3 department heads and no teams able to check each other's work. Second to that fairity, They blatantly don't care if LLMs are misclassified as AI. (a unprofessional practice I do not uphold)

At best they're betting on debt pool versus cost it takes to compute one slice of an LLMs layers. So unsharding from slice is latency dependent... (a unprofessional practice I do not uphold)

LLMs developed by large teams on time constraints don't consider thinking, only doing and getting what looks good on the books to make a dime off it. (a unprofessional practice I do not uphold)

As a result, it left many developers of LLMs stuck without knowing what comes close in a linear sparse parsing. At best they're trying to push the LLMs as AI simply by their practices' unique pissing over the turing test as the eliza project did and anything mimicking it still does (a unprofessional practice I do not uphold due to it not operating as an AI: close to human artiface to the point of indestinguishability). Because what they've got is symbolic, it has less to do with inherent comprehension and more to do with their attempt to make a quick buck, which short changes them in the long hall.

As a AI developer, I steer clear of vendor lockin or hardware dependence so I can run AI on a cellphone or in the cloud so long as it is functional, operational, accessible globally (unless their government was a jackass).

As far as runtime decision making was required? stick to python3.6 to python3.12, kept numpy & scipy to reasonable versions (1.26.4 for numpy; 1.15.3 for scipy unless on android aarch64, but as close as possible), and personally maintained pybrain3 so it works within pyodide.js version 0.25.1 with brython.js controlling the rest of the frontend with flask to operate as middleware, with localtunnel (even for android) setup to host a subdomain/root-TLD. Everything else is floating point math even to text generation. Now mind you, most devs aren't thinking about neurochemical emulation, so I added in rdkit & biopython so as to allow the AI code itself think, "feel" and aim to reason as a human does.

Bottom line, keep asking questions, I like to see more questions like yours because you're asking questions that many ignore to their inability to step out of logical fallacies.

Do more with thinking outside the box, in the end, even the smartest minds get to be free of their fuckups.

AND

KEEP

• Are Spiking Neural Networks the Next Big Thing in Software Engineering?
Any-Olive5779
commented 9 mo. ago
So spiking neural networks work when they have something to work with.

For instance if you're emulating processing of, for no better example, dopamine, you'd pass the molecular weight, the partition coefficient, the expected voltage spike point, and then train the network to return the spiked responses versus when no input (or data is all zero aka no pickup of dopamine etc) where ya got nothing to "spike" or learn on..

In my experience, modeling neural networks closer to the human brain cell networks is difficult but doable. Because I am building AI, I had to consider such being incorporated with a 3d matrix to house the cardinality of 3d structure. The spike portions of the network happen and then once trained on the spiked states versus zero-d out results due to no pickup (no information to spike on), the rest becomes deterministic unless not trained on and then expect results to be random.

In other words, spike neural networks are better in small orders as you're training on a fixed set/state. However, the less one knows what to do with the spike network, or rather what data to pass in, the more chaotic the output should look, or nullified in result-set.

I recommend using pybrain & pybrain3 for modeling spike neural networks and testing with real data.

No but seriously, who within Google inc. figured out that cheat engine and game conquerer could edit Google documents from a drive they don't have permission to without being logged in?
Cuz anyone can rewrite what the server remembers even from disk if you make the hack capitulative the right way.
And the second thing is, separate from that, I could automate response chains between discord and Facebook via one xml-rpc call. Meaning I could automate every response to and from this account. And eventually his Google drive runs out of document space. Same for his GitHub or bitbucket.
Now if you use a custom multi window APK and use aide.apk to build it with termux and python3.10 inside a proot Ubuntu 22.04 bootstrapped nonjail, and connect a discord bot to millions of servers. And you give that app access to the xml-rpc callback point and vise versa, how quickly would that Google drive and GitHub and bitbucket get filled with random filler data that looks like I said it?
And it turns out, fairly quickly, not just from a bulk of data but random data. And one cannot fight the high rate of entropy and of true random. Even what's reflected of it in a mirror.

The thing is, I just said the one thing that two relatives one who's a geneticist and one who is a carrier of the genomic set the problem originates where if they put their two heads together for 5 minutes they own and know more about people than one making the quotation of me into a spreadsheet illegally whom failed to teach any form of lesson beyond what to report to one power higher up.
The best part is in letting one fool misuse a Google spreadsheet with the contents reported. The only reason I allowed that one fool to make shit up with my communica of things done is I knew how he'd use it to force a lie."

Good thing I know how to run a virtual bank and keep to the security used by modern banks for a virtual bank and linked virtal card.
Just as well as I know US law like the back of my hand.
Even if I only have seen and written 7/12ths the security modern banks use, the remainder is of little guess work.
And if it takes that little effort for me to build one including an ai by hand from scratch without much failure? that should tell you that pissing on the smartest hacker is not wise and maybe you should aide that hacker instead of refusing.
Cuz even the oldest smartass of the last generation also loses that fight and will look poor.

dad needs to stop trying to defame me.
he can drop the claim of absurd and what is not a good look. he knows what he lied with both on and off camera. his snark by text wasn't cute including the Google document he's made which is now evidence of him committing to reputational slander.
now the authorities can deal with him making shit up as it isn't a good look for dad.
And he's gotten good at lying since 2004. He's welcome to play into a false dicotomy with himself and others imitating me but he's lies to me and many people. How am I to trust him since he'll do it even in a court room?

Dylan

My business hours are 8 pm to 5 am, thursdays through tuesday of every week.
That's not going to change.
If you can't follow that schedule because it is inconvenient for your schedule in america or any other part of the world, change your schedule. Cuz mine is not changing for you specifically at a high enough bid. While I am open to compromise, my agency and time for bullshit is not one of them. and no I do not mean "8 am to 5 pm, monday through friday of every week", melissa.

Matthew 7:1 my friend 😘
Having a relationship with God doesnt require going to church. You can read a Bible and learn that God's word is good. You are already told you should pray. Can you pray peacefully while a room full of noise is? I can't. I like to pray in a silent place and listen for that good word. 👌

Well I know the pride flag has 6 colors and the God given Rainbow has 7. So that is at least two things I know.
Another thing I know is, people who throw low insults like that are either trying to hide the fact they got offended or cover their own inadequacies. So that’s three things I know right there.

Dylan

Let me stop you right there.
Even Dad's bank accounts are hackable from the web interface. If Isaac Vargas applied his skills in hacking more, Isaac could flatten you and dads wallet without batting an eyelid and zero consequences against Isaac would come if it.
You sound dangerous and delusional, and I'll advisedly so. You should stop while you have the chance.
I too doubt you know anything of value to anyone but you beyond being a dangerous professional.

Fair points. I think I was thinking a lot more pragmatically - which is the less interesting lens through which to view it - since it describes what PHP is used for and why it's really important there are PHP developers.
I think your framing is more appropriate and asks the question: "Is this the right tool to do this with today?"
kenisi_thedevilonhigh

That is an appt way of viewing it, yes.
I personally would not think it so, but welcome the exception to the rule.
I test lots of code that works well even with python. And sometimes I too can miss things when doing integration testing.
The reason to have that question running in the cerebellum towards the hypocampus is often developers write code and don't do a hardening test.
The hardening test should proof if the code breaks under high entropy or high amounts of stress on the system.

Strong disagree. As long as there are significant systems built on it - by definition it isn't useless.
It has many downsides which you are right to point out, but there is a lot of people who rely on it today without knowing it.

Dylan

Which is why I said that.
Even though it is widely adopted it is poor practice of software development that got them that shoe horning. Yes I do hear you and wear your disagreement comes and came from.
However, I will hear out not-useless if you can prove it has valid use offline as a language for cyber security and firewall development. But I will ask for a proofed model.

Ya, dad does that shit as does my biological mother. Both have the same set of pschizo-affective bipolar disorder accompanied by existential crisis. I should know from seeing in what order both will boil their brains with drugs.

[snip]

Dad's just better at lying about shit talking or people talking shit behind his back, what he often defames people he bullies for control like a impolite asshole.
His fucked meter hit the rictor 13 times in a single day. His o-fuck meter was clocked 13 times to right like he is made of radiation.
As the witness I too have seen how both will separately badger the witnesses as well as lie to people I would have trusted if I didn't know better what was happening and which one said and did what. And it's like dad making shit up and misquoting with citations out of context while he's high with a google document, "that's grounds for me to sue him over and he couldn't lie to police about it with 'i did it to teach a lesson because acts like mother'."

Its also like dad lying with "does it to be a shit head".
The only reason dad does these stints when I call him out on it is because he is thoroughly embarrassed by the whole truth. Because he desperately wants to force me to lie for him.
And he ain't even paid $1000/hr/lie. He fraudulently expects lying to be as free and dopaminergic as breathing aire simply because he does it freely. If all dad wants to do is lie and talk out his ass online and offline while updating a google document, he will end up dealing with police breathing down his neck for his need to be a n unsober jackass.
And what were jay smith who's now jayjay Smith's words when dad or I was 5? "You want something to cry about, I'll give you something to cry about" and with ample action.
What dad just lied with is "oh really" and then scrambling to copy pasta everything he thinks he can to slander me for speaking publicly. And like dad abusing a google document to slander even me or lying to himself then me on what another did with a VoIP I don't own, he'll have a hard time telling the truth forcing it to be done for him.
But sure "if you're good at something never do it for free". And I'll add "and even if you're bad at still don't do it for free"
Until Dad learns from his error in judgment and can pay the 43.6 billion USd forward, hand over the cancer cure he owes, and get me to work for google in their senior architect positions, dad got only his hair and shirt to show for shit. He can either pay it all forward or be mocked mercilessly for trying to coerce me into submission over his learning disability he failed to address properly. Much like his choice to lie about being caught and called out on it by me and others.

But hey, if dad wants this to stop he'll pay it forward. Otherwise the consequences are legal suites and hand cuffs plus sulking in the meantime. And his time is running out.
As this is the pushback he asked for. Mind you, dad is a link head by his own idea to commit to such.
Additionally, dad uses people to cause and push confusion to later preach non-involvement.
The only way my attitude for his bullshit changes is when he meets compliance rather than lying with "you're scaring me, and I fear you'll winde up in the morgue before me man".

dad gets to accept being caught for this type of criminal association as he does that to people to force black marks into people's records.

johhan I had to apologize to as he didn't know what dad or Robert were lying with.

now we know and I don't feel bad for dad or Robert.

both put two lives at risk and I am never going to be forgiving of either. johhan had no idea what he was being lied to into. johhan is proven innocent.

"ur supposed to lie a little man" <=== and who is going to pay $1000/hr/lie? No one? Lying costs dopamine. It costs jueles of electrical exchange in the brain. So bullshit "lying is a free action". Breathing Aire is a free action. Farting is a free action. Lying? No that one costs chemical and electrical exchange in the brain either success or failure to pull off.
I don't give the sources aiming to coerce me for such any mind or trust because what justice would that actually do? And I don't bs about shit. It equally doesn't pay me. I don't do lying because what's the point? The robbery by another for a free sub?
It's not about "putting up a good fight cuz maybe God will use the Internet and point out at red lobster someone who's a homeless fent user has snuck up onto red lobster parking lot property". That's just a fact. I don't believe in wuway bunk. It's funny. I'll laugh at nothin burgers like it. Because even penguinz0 on YouTube knows what I am spotting take place. It's not why aunt Anne had me solve a 10 thousand piece puzzle at 5 to 6 years old. It's not why she taught me to play the electronic piano. And it's not why grampa Henry/hariette build his house in main by the shore by his own two hands in the span of a handful of days himself.
The reason religious people point to me as the loarde is because they know I'm a scientist who believes when they say "this is real" and it is indistinguishable that must be believed. It's not about personal beliefs or opinions. Opinions don't pay my bills, I do. It's not about someone claiming I talk out the ass so often when none such has taken place, like making shit up as one goes along or living vicariously through your children. And no, it isn't about convincing people with a good bunk story about ones personal life.
If you cannot see reality as it is, even what they believe is real beyond belief, I cannot help you as you'll seek to claim their religious values are for talkative nonsense heard from to be an asshole. I can't help those whom don't seek out things like the cure to all cancers. Radiation ain't it. Chemotherapy works but also ain't it. False hole ain't gonna cure it and neither would snapping my fingers. domain even in programming and hacking code and building AI by hand. I get up with the question "what haven't we tried". "What's not been yet tested". "What is available to prove without lack of proof". And to clarify for a few whom presume me, I'm not delusional or insane. My therapist knows this. I may take up some zanie world views but who said for a minute I'd agree with my ego when it presents such? I don't get paid to be a total lying asshole, as a fool may have lied with.
If I wanted to work in a morgue, be a therapist, and a school teacher, I would have taken such up already. I don't keep secrets for people. And even if I had, by now the secret whatever it is is better forgotten.
But if you're certain you can shit mushroom clouds and somehow know people better, prove it. Cuz otherwise it is a lie I'm not interested nor invested in the personage of.

"proof before bullshit or be ignored" that rule has not changed in terms of trust. If all you're like to do even online and offline is make a bunk claim, expect a challenge given whether or not you like the notion of no one having to be nice to you. But none of this is about talking about myself, buffing myself up, or any game. I know I have an ego the size of Saturn, that never once stopped me from setting my emotions aside to contend with the problem and moving on back to normal emotional expression.
"No but I know my child is thinking it'll get them out of" and what do have for proof beyond your word that is the case?
"THIS IS FUCKING BULLSHIT" and what do have for proof beyond your word that is the case?
I don't have a reason for allowing such lies told by one fool. I don't seek out new enemies. I just let the verbal poo flinger push their arrogance and let them fail to take responsibility for their own behavior. Hell, if you need me to get help for you, you probably are in actual mental pain going through a mental health crisis.
Sure some people are pissed off by the whole truth. So what? I intend to leave nothing about myself a mystery for long. It's not about winning or losing an argument or if I agree with what is or is not. I'm not saying live life like a square.
I'm just pointing out you don't have to accept losing mind over the ego.
If I wanted to I could make everyone on earth laugh at one good joke. Is it fair? Hell no, but it's my life. I can't sit around holding dildos and pretending one can use blankets to fly. This ain't Disney movies like alladan or prince of Egypt. I'm just that appt at responding to the problem in live time.
"Okay, seriously how are you fuqqin doing that" <=== it's my life. I'm no more above or below the law than anyone else. If palantir asked me to make Palestine a safer place, I would not know and admit it but I'd have to come up with something. I don't expect them to ask for such. However I do have to consider it.

"why are you fuqqin like this" <=== it's more of an honest way to live as a hacker.
If I showed you the activity in my head in live time, many of you would have your brains melt and slumb out ya ears and eye scokets. A thing I cannot allow. Much like preventing Trump from doing the worst, I cannot show you those answers or what good is to result will never happen. Would it be fair for me to allow full system collapse? Not in my book.
If you truly have nothing to go off of, go ahead, look me up. I'm not saying it to snark. I'm giving permission for you to try and proof the contradiction to my personal rules. These rules kept many I trust alive even when they half knew what danger they were actually in.

No, dude, I will only accept phone calls @ 8 pm to 5 am, Wednesday thru Sunday. I'm not going to change that for the inconvenient who expect an "8a to 5p mon to fri" as they cannot pay me $1000/hr for their poor choices. I'm not going to bend the knee for anything less than $1000/hr, to do so would be ridiculous and lacking of professionalism in standard-laymens' terms. Otherwise, quote me a fairer rate.
And no, if you don't text me your name and a face photo along with your driver's license front and back, I cannot accept your voicemail as you're not serious.
Now I'm busy from 8 am to 5 pm Monday through Friday, doing work to develop AI. If you want to inquire from me on how to build, I am building a course through udemy.com priced at 200$+/student, and not reducing prices for any midling moranus regusyen.
That is the "to be fair" and "fair" without vanity as worded by the dictionary. It's not even egotistical in resolve and experience. Nothing personal, but, I'm running an ai company from the ground up.
Either you can afford my time, or you can afford the results of my work. All else is non-negotiable.
And yes, I do speak 34+ languages including Armenian. While I don't speak spanish for shit, I do have good enough ability to translate even french and Italian.
If you want me to be rude about it, I can, however, you won't like the results for $0/hr/lie even dad tries to force me to speak whom cannot accept a "no, moron, I'm not going to ask Robert gardner ii to lie for you". Otherwise, why should I take even dad seriously with his aim to coerce nepotism which I said no to in his house and said I would work for Robert but dad violated that employment agreement.

Anyone claiming otherwise is either high, a criminal, or clinically insane. Or if really unlucky, all 3.
Defamation by said fuckos includes "being a fucking Idiot|always fucks around|can't find a job|always high|nah bro you tryna buy drugs|offended and embarrassed easily|for lying to me".
You can find them at 11421 briarcreek loop, manor Texas, illegally holding my mail hostage from me.
You can also find all the drugs in either of the 2 of 3 rooms as well as a filing cabinet in the garage. As for the old bike on mine still in the yard, it is considered stolen via illegal possession.
The evidence of the drugs legally in their possession are 5 photos on my fb profile. Feel free to find them as law enforcement. And they're good at forcing children to take the guilt by association with them while lying with "because stupid". See less
